

Congressmen Find War No. 1 Issue With Voters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress members say Vietnam ranks as the No. 1 issue with voters they've talked to back home — but add the war was nearly overshadowed by rising anger over riots and crime.

"People want crime in the streets stopped and they don't mean maybe" said Rep. Bob Sikes, D-Fla.

He and numerous other representatives and senators were responding to an Associated Press survey on what voter attitudes they found at home during their recent month-long recess.

Rep. Tom Railsback, R-Ill.,

reported when he mentioned crime in a speech at Galesburg, Ill., a waitress took the floor away from him and angrily described how she'd been struck and robbed in what she thought was her safe neighborhood.

The anger over crime was listed by nearly all congressmen surveyed. And it was reflected when President Johnson's State of the Union appeal Wednesday night for stiffer anti-crime measures brought more cheers from congressmen than any other proposal.

Rep. Graham Purcell, D-Tex., said he returned from home convinced the people want enactment of such legislation to be high on Congress' priority list.

As for the war, most congressmen said they found frustration and disillusionment at home—but a determination not to end the conflict without an honorable settlement.

"I ran into fewer 'invade North Vietnam and bomb them back into the stone age' people than those for negotiation," said Rep. Andrew Jacobs Jr., D-Ind.

"But the largest number are unhappy the war exists, would like to get it over with, but have few suggestions on how to do it."

The congressmen also found strong feelings against Johnson's proposed tax increase, government spending and the activities of militant Negro leader Stokely Carmichael and French President Charles de Gaulle.

Said Rep. Jack Edwards, R-Ala.: "People can't understand why we continue to give De Gaulle gold for dollars and don't insist that France start paying its $6 billion World War I debt."

Strong opposition to the tax increase was reported throughout the country—but many Democrats and a few Republicans said they believed people would go along with an increase that had strings attached.

Johnson Wants April Tax Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration appears to be shooting for an April 1 effective date for its proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge on individuals but a retroactive Jan. 1 date for corporations.

This possible schedule emerged Thursday in the wake of the new budget figures—spending of $186 billion and an $8 billion deficit—contingent on the tax boost—for the next fiscal year. The figures were revealed by President Johnson in his State of the Union message.

Administration officials declined to say what effective dates they would seek in appealing anew for adoption of the surcharge but the April-January combination reportedly is the most likely possibility.

Name Dates Monday

The dates are expected to be disclosed officially Monday when the House Ways and Means Committee reopens public hearings on the surcharge bill. But in any case, the committee chairman, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., says he wants a close look at the budget before he decides whether to support a tax increase.

Government witnesses will base their appeal for higher taxes on defense of the dollar abroad and dampening inflation at home. One key source said foreign countries consider the tax bill "the psychological symbol of fiscal responsibility."

In planning the new budget, the administration is figuring on $3 billion in revenues from the tax package during the current fiscal year which ends June 30 and $12.9 billion during the next fiscal year.

Collection Speedup

This refinement of the figures the President outlined includes not only revenues from the surcharge but also from a speedup of corporate tax collections and the postponement of excise-tax cuts scheduled to go into effect April 1.

When the administration proposed a 6 per cent surcharge last January it carried an effective date of last July 1.

But it wasn't until Aug. 3 that the President upped the request to 10 per cent and submitted it to Congress with an Oct. 1 effective date for individuals and a retroactive July 1 date for corporations.

The final word on any new effective date must come from Congress where there is still key opposition to a tax hike. Much of the opposition is in the House and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said prospects of Senate passage are good if it clears the House.

Keep Excise Tax

Two excise taxes are scheduled to decline on April 1—the 7 per cent manufacturers excise tax on automobiles to 2 per cent and the 10 per cent excise tax on telephone service to 1 per cent.

The auto tax would drop to 1 per cent next Jan. 1 while the telephone tax would be eliminated.

But under the President's program, the auto excise would remain at 7 per cent until July 1, 1969 and the drop to 1 per cent would be postponed until Jan. 1, 1970.

The telephone tax would remain at 10 per cent until July 1, 1969, and would be eliminated Jan. 1, 1970.

Kasperak Has More Surgery

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — A doctor said Mike Kasperak's transplanted heart pulsed on in an "excellent manner" today after withstanding the effect of another major operation for intestinal bleeding.

After the three-hour surgery Thursday night, Dr. Harry Oberhelman Jr. said the stress on the 54-year-old retired steelworker's ailing liver probably was greater than on his borrowed heart. Oberhelman performed the operation.

Kasperak remained on the critical list.

Kasperak, who received the heart of a dead woman Jan. 6, had his gall bladder removed last Sunday. He has undergone three massive blood transfusions this week.

Even with this tremendous strain, Oberhelman and Dr. Norman E. Shumway, who performed the transplant, concurred in the statement that the heart function was normal.

Oberhelman, member of the team that has watched over Kasperak for nearly two weeks, said that in Thursday's operation the vagus nerve leading to the stomach was cut to check gastric juices that were complicating the bleeding.

The bleeding sites were closed and a tube inserted to decompress the stomach. The tube will remain for a couple of days.

Oberhelman described the process as "standard."

The surgeon also reported Kasperak's liver "looked better to the eye." He said he could not tell further until a report on a biopsy.

Kasperak, the fourth human heart transplant case, was said to be alert and awake after the operation.

In Cape Town, Philip Blai-burg, 58, was reported making such satisfactory progress that his surgeon, Dr. Christiaan Barnard, may permit him to return home by Feb. 8.

Viet Buildup Hints New Drive By Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials say a massive buildup of Communist forces along South Vietnam's northern frontier may be evidence North Vietnam has no intention of scaling down the war in the near future.

U.S. military authorities in Saigon report an estimated 35,000 Communist regulars are massed in the buffer zone separating the two Vietnams. Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Vietnam, has predicted "a resurgence of enemy initiatives" around the end of the month.

U.S. policy-makers said Thursday that North Vietnam's military actions are considered by President Johnson and his advisers an important indication of North Vietnam's real intentions in its present peace offensive.

No One-Sided Talk

North Vietnam's stated price for peace talks is an unconditional end to U.S. bombing. Johnson's principal price for ending the bombing, officials said, is a firm indication from Hanoi, either by action in the war or by assurance through diplomatic channels, that a bombing halt would bring immediate Communist de-escalation.

Johnson has long since ruled out what officials describe as a "one-sided talk and fight" procedure—a situation in which the U.S. would stop the bombing and join in peace talks while the war otherwise continued unabated.

Probe For Concessions

The diplomatic front now finds Washington and Hanoi apparently engaged in long-distance exploratory negotiations through intermediaries, each evidently trying to find out if there is any concession to be won in the other's position.

The United States has reportedly received word through these channels that North Vietnam would be prepared to start talks in a few days after the bombing was halted. One of President Johnson's conditions for stopping the bombing in order to get discussions going is that the talks should begin promptly.

Another condition, as Johnson put it in his State of the Union message Wednesday night, is that the talks should give reasonable hopes of being productive. To satisfy themselves on this point, U.S. officials are asking Hanoi what issues would be on the agenda.

Crucial Point

But the crucial point from the American point of view is military de-escalation by the Communists in response to ending the bombing. And on this point Johnson and his advisers evidently want answers to two questions: Would North Vietnam be prepared to stop sending reinforcements to Communist forces in the South? Would all attacks from North Vietnamese forces in the buffer zone be stopped?

This issue, judged by the public positions of the two sides, is deadlocked at present because Hanoi spokesmen have said publicly the United States is responsible for aggression against North Vietnam and has no right to deny military response on their part to ending that aggression.

Romney Incites, Says Negro Prof

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A Negro college professor today accused Michigan Gov. George Romney of making statements which he said could incite both Negroes and whites in times of racial crisis.

Dr. Robert L. Green, associate professor of educational psychology at Michigan State University, did not mention Romney by name but spoke of "a leading Republican presidential candidate" and quoted from Romney's recent State of the State address to the Michigan Legislature.

Romney, the only announced candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, told the Michigan lawmakers, "There are citizens organized, trained and armed for violence, riots, and civil and guerrilla warfare. They are using the latest methods and means developed in Cuba, China, and Southeast Asia."

"Such statements incite both races," said Green in a speech prepared for delivery to a desegregation seminar sponsored by the Dade County, Fla., Classroom Teachers Association.

"When political leaders make such statements," the federal government should ask and demand that they produce such evidence or refrain from making such statements," said Green, an education consultant to Dr. Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Mack's Rap At Ruppe Is Called Candidate's Shot

LANSING (AP) — A Democratic State senator, accusing a Republican congressman of slurring the integrity of the Michigan Legislature, Thursday set off a half-hour of political speeches, laughter and charges that he also aspires to Congress.

State Sen. Joseph Mack, D-Ironwood, accused U. S. Rep. Philip Ruppe of telling an Ironwood Chamber of Commerce dinner Monday that "The intent of the Michigan Legislature to match federal funds for an east-west highway was no more sincere than Ho Chi Minh's intention to talk peace."

"This disgraceful comparison of the Michigan Legislature and a notorious Communist leader diminishes the stature of the high office Ruppe holds," said Mack, demanding an immediate apology.

Legislative Intent

During the special session, the Legislature approved a measure expressing its intent to match federal funds with state money should the federal government approve an interstate highway across the Upper Peninsula.

Ruppe, up for re-election this fall, represents the 11th Congressional District, which consists of all of the Upper Peninsula and a portion of the northern Lower Peninsula.

The Upper Peninsula senator was supported on the floor by comments from fellow Democrats Raymond Dzendzel of Detroit, minority leader, George Fitzgerald of Grosse Pointe Park and James Gray of Warren.

Majority Floor Leader Robert Vander Laan, R-Grand Rapids, interpreted Mack's comments as a campaign speech, drawing laughter from Republicans and Democrats alike.

Mack Candidate?

"I'd like to know when Sen. Mack announced for Congress?" said Vander Laan. "I wasn't aware the good senator had announced."

"I haven't announced for Congress," answered Mack. "I haven't decided one way or the other. I'm merely concerned for the integrity of my colleagues."

Vander Laan successfully moved that action on the matter

Federal Aid Assures Jet Port This Year

Congressman Philip E. Ruppe (R-Houghton) today told the City of Escanaba that the Federal Aviation Administration had informed his office that it was granting an additional $67,400 for the development of Escanaba Airport for jet traffic this year.

The additional aid assures the readiness of Escanaba Airport for jet airliner services this year, the FAA announced and the Michigan Department of Aeronautics also said that the aid being granted would assure readiness of the airport for North Central's new DC9 jet planes which seat 99 passengers.

Ruppe's legislative assistant, Chris Farrand, said that unofficial word in Washington was that North Central would inaugurate jet service in Escanaba on June 15, 1968. There has been no announcement from North Central of such an early start on jet plane service, which is now operated from Green Bay to Chicago.

Jets In Spring

North Central spokesmen have said, however, that they would be looking for airports to use their new DC9's on by spring.

The Escanaba development project is being financed by the City of Escanaba, with aid from the Delta County Board of Supervisors, with state aid through the Michigan Department of Aeronautics, and federal aid through the FAA.

A new terminal building construction contract was awarded to Olsen & Flath of Escanaba on Oct. 10, 1967 at $173,600, but has since been revised.

The rest of the project will include acquisition of additional land for the airport, extension of the main east-west runway to 6,500 feet to handle jets, and construction of an apron in front of the new terminal building and a taxiway to the apron from the landing strip.

Delete Taxiway

The FAA was asked for $274,000 in federal aid for the total $748,300 project and granted only $64,000 initially. The City of Escanaba sent a delegation to Washington in November to confer with FAA and this resulted in the additional grant of $67,400 in aid which was announced today.

FAA deleted from its additional grant an item of aid for a parallel taxiway to the apron at the terminal building. This will come later under the new planning.

The parallel (second) taxiway is not needed to institute jet service, said Peter Zimmer, local manager for North Central Airlines. It is desirable, he said, where there is heavy traffic because it permits keeping the runway clear, but Escanaba's jet traffic will not require the parallel taxiway as an initial installation.

"The lack of the parallel taxiway wouldn't mean more than a requirement for a plane to circle the field once before landing," said Zimmer.

North Central now has three DC9 jets in service and will receive a fourth at the end of January. It is using Convair 440s (propeller) and Convair 580s (jet) on its Escanaba service at present.

Harold H. Hendrichsen, Sheboygan, Wis., a capital funds counselor for the Lutheran Laymen's Movement for stewardship of the LCA, will bring the morning message on Sunday, Jan. 21, at 8 and 11 services at Christ the King Lutheran Church.

Hendrichsen is directing a three-year fund drive at the church. It is expected the new church will cost about $200,000. Construction should begin this spring so that the church is ready for use by Christmas of 1968.

Hendrichsen is a member of the Lutheran Laymen's Movement which underwrites a major portion of stewardship education in the 31 constituent Synods and 6,200 congregations of the LCA. It operates the fund raising service to raise capital funds for congregational building projects.

An industrial engineer before he entered full time church service Hendrichsen is an expert in time and motion studies, having served Western Electric and Electric Spraying companies in that capacity and lecturing on the subject at a labor union school in Chicago. In his post with the Lutheran Laymen's Movement, he has directed successful campaigns from coast to coast, including Alaska and Canada.

An active leader at First United Lutheran Church, Sheboygan, Hendrichsen has been an officer of many congregational organizations, including the Lutheran Churchmen and

Nonfarm Work At 12-Year Top

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan's December nonfarm employment totaled approximately 3.3 million — the highest in 12 years — Malcolm R. Lovell director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission revealed.

Lovell credited nearly complete recovery from the recent labor-management disputes in Michigan's auto industry and a seasonal upturn in trade and services at the year's end for the high figure.

The December figure topped the November level by some 27,000 and exceeded the year-ago mark by almost 38,000.

Net increases of 17,800 in private nonmanufacturing and nearly 5,000 in government account for a major part of the November to December gain, Lovell said.

Unemployment declined 4,000 over the month, dropping from 126,000 in November to 122,000 on Dec. 15.

However, Lovell said job growth during the past year has not kept pace with expansion in the size of the labor force, resulting in the addition of 16,000 workers to the ranks of the unemployed.

Coho Dieoff May Be DDT Caused

LANSING (AP) — The State Conservation Department reports a recent dieoff of baby Coho salmon that it describes as "high but not catastrophic."

Some 160,000 of the young fish died at the department's Wolf Lake Hatchery near Kalamazoo.

They are among 1.3 million salmon being nursed along for release in the Michigan streams in the spring of 1969.

Fisheries workers said preliminary indications are that the tiny fish were the victims of either some viral disease or pesticide poisoning.

Samples of dead and some surviving salmon have been sent for analysis at the Eastern Fish Disease Laboratory at Leesport, W. Va., and to Michigan State University.

Those going to Leesport will be studied for possible viral disease. Michigan State University will try to determine if pesticides had anything to do with the fish kill.

A recent study at MSU showed that Michigan-raised Coho eggs contain enough DDT residues to pose a problem in raising salmon. At Wisconsin, it was reported that a similar dieoff occurred among Coho fry hatched from some 300,000 eggs supplied by Michigan.

A close watch is being kept on the fish at Wolf Lake and at the department's Northern Michigan fish hatcheries, where four million Coho eggs are being raised.

"We are naturally concerned about these recent developments," said Brad Durling, in charge of hatchery operations.

Shock May Help Fight Infections

By A.F. MAHAN

DETROIT (AP) — The death of one of 43 persons who lost their lives in Detroit's 1967 riots may have pointed the way toward saving countless lives in the future. For instance: those of heart transplant patients.

Two medical researchers now are experimenting with animals to determine if electric shock may be the answer to quickly raising and holding a person's white blood cell count to combat infections.

Observations made during a week in which fireman John C. Ashby, 24, lingered after a fire-felled, 4,800-volt power line led Drs. Paul L. Wolf and Jaime J. Rey of the Wayne State University medical school into their research.

How much shock to do the job is among questions to which answers are being sought. So is the length of shock administration.

Battle Pneumonia

White blood cells are the body's infection fighters. They go after, among other things, bacteria causing pneumonia.

Pneumonia was blamed for the death of South Africa's first heart transplant patient, Louis Washkansky, despite massive white cell transfusions.

If a way were found to stimulate white cell production sufficiently through safe electric shock, then the tedious requirement for transfusing white cells would be eliminated, Dr. Wolfe said.

Ashby's white blood cell count shot up to 32,000 to 42,500 to 57,000 and then to 117,000 per cubic millimeter. A count of up to 10,000 is normal.

Electric shock is known to increase temporarily a person's white blood cell count, but development into a leukaemoid (leukemia-like) state seldom is seen, the researchers said, because of the quickness of death in most shock cases.

Burns Discounted

Extensive, severe burns also are known to raise temporarily one's white blood cell count, but Drs. Wolf and Rey discount this in Ashby's case because his burns covered less than 10 per cent of his body.

Although he suffered mortal nervous system damage when the 4,800-volt line fell across his head as he was fire-fighting from an aerial ladder, Ashby lived for a week.

The fire was a rioter-set one on Detroit's East Side. It burned through the high-tension wire.

Reporting in "The Lancet," a medical journal, Drs. Wolf and Rey said that Ashby's case "is unique because of the development of a striking leukaemoid (leukemia-like) reaction in a previously healthy individual, after exposure to a high voltage electric discharge."

Stimulates Glands

"The mechanism of this leucocyte response seems to be mediated by stimulation of the pituitary-adrenal system. This is probably a direct adrenal stimulation rather than adrenal stimulation due to muscular activity and hypoxia. . . .

"Release of adrenaline or haemococentration could have contributed somewhat to the initial leucocytosis (increased white cell count), but only temporarily, and not to a sustained elevation during all the hospital course, ending in a severe leukaemoid reaction."

Dr. Wolf is professor of pathology and clinical pathologist at Wayne State. Dr. Rey is resident in pathology.

Wells PTA Meeting Held

Wells Central PTA met Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the multipurpose room of the school.

Thomas McDermott of the Mental Health Compact and a member of the resident guidance clinic spoke on the emotional problems of children and adults and what can be done to correct them. The clinic is located in the lower offices of Doctor's Park.

Miss Ducheny's fourth grade room won the room count and lunch was served by fourth grade mothers, Mrs. Fred Arts, Mrs. Henry Makoskey, and Mrs. Albert Grau. The next meeting will be on March 5.

AMC Workers Demand Equal Pact Benefits

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Some 50 American Motors employees are planning to go to Detroit Saturday to picket United Auto Workers headquarters in protest over negotiations for a new labor contract.

A spokesman for the group, William F. Brunton Jr., said they would protest apparent concessions by union leaders.

"The main idea is that we want to demonstrate that we're not satisfied with the progress of negotiations," Brunton said.

He said UAW negotiators seem to be "backwatering" in talks with the financially troubled automaker.

"We feel that our cost of living is just as high as anybody else's and we can't stay status quo," Brunton added. "The only thing we want is to be treated equally in the negotiations."

Brunton has not worked since June 1966 when he was fired for alleged accumulation of work rule violations. His firing was taken to arbitration and he was rehired and given back pay. He now is laid off and receives unemployment compensation.

Ford Swipes At Powerful Unions

DETROIT (AP) — Board Chairman Henry Ford II of Ford Motor Co. Thursday congratulated President Johnson on his State of the Union message, but took a swipe at the United Auto Workers for what he termed "excessive bargaining power."

In a telegram to the President, Ford said "I was especially encouraged by your evident determination to deal with our pressing urban problems and your emphasis on the need to contain the inflationary pressures that threaten continued economic growth and world confidence in the soundness of the dollar.

"To put the country on a sound economic basis we need the temporary tax increase you have proposed and I hope it will be enacted promptly. Your pledge to seek further budget savings without sacrificing urgent programs to meet the urban crisis, and your appeal to Congress to keep appropriations within budget requests were most welcome."

However, Ford, who supported Johnson in 1964 and has indicated he will do so again this year, added:

"In the light of the prolonged and unnecessary UAW strike against Ford Motor Co. last fall, I must observe, however, that one great obstacle to the containment of inflation is the excessive bargaining power of large national unions. This problem must be solved if the nation is to achieve the progress you have outlined."

12 Conservation Officers Named To New Positions

MARQUETTE — In a move to strengthen the law enforcement program, 12 veteran conservation officers have been appointed to intermediate supervisory positions in the Upper Peninsula, according to Regional Law Supervisor Bernard Stephansky.

Appointments are effective Feb. 4.

Officers selected and new locations are:

Edgar J. Bezotte, Marquette; Robert A. Gussert, Houghton; Albert J. Latasiewicz, Munising; Willis R. McDonald, St. Ignace; Henry L. Savaski, Iron River; Ernest F. Sharon, Wakefield; Charles L. Vanderstar, Naubinway; John Wormwood, Menominee; Natale Coppo, Felch;

Karl D. Haltug, Ontonagon; Ernest L. Leonardi, Rapid River; Edward H. Dorie, Manistique.

The move will close the supervisory gap between conservation officers and District offices and will provide more effective enforcement of Commercial fish, inland fish and game laws. It also will allow faster shifting of officers to "hot spots" as the need arises and make it easier to fill areas left vacant when certain officers are off duty.

Each Area Law Supervisor will have charge of the activities of four or five officers.

Albert Latasiewicz, a native of Johnstown, Pa., became a Conservation Officer in 1947 and was assigned to Munising where he is presently stationed. He is single and is a 4th Degree Knight of the Knights of Columbus. He is also a member of the Disabled American Veterans and the American Legion and the Upper Peninsula Law Enforcement Association.

Ernest Sharon, a native of Wilson and a graduate of Bark River-Harris High School, began employment with the Conservation Dept. in 1941 as a lookout at Escanaba and was transferred to Stephenson in 1942. After returning from the service, he became a Fire Officer assigned to Stephenson until 1956 at which time he was promoted to Conservation Officer and assigned to Wakefield where he is presently stationed. He is the father of five children, four girls and one boy, ranging in age from 24 to 15. He is a member of the Gogebic County and the Upper Peninsula Law Enforcement Associations.

Charles Vanderstar, a native of Fibre graduated from Rudyard High School in 1929. He began employment with the Conservation Dept. in 1938 at Pickford as fire warden. From 1939 to 1942 he was assigned to Engadine as fire warden and in 1942 was assigned to Big Bay as Conservation Officer. In 1945 he was transferred to Naubinway, where he is presently stationed. He is married to the former Peggy Flynn and the father of one daughter, age 17. He is a member of the Hiawatha Land and the Upper Peninsula Law Enforcement Associations, Hiawatha Sportsmen's Club, and West Mackinac Trapping and Shooting Club.

Ernest Leonardi, a native of Crystal Falls and a graduate of the Alpha High School, received a B.S. Degree in Forestry from the University of Michigan in 1940 and completed graduate work at the University of the Pacific at Stockton, Calif. Becoming a Conservation Officer in 1951, he was assigned to Big Bay and later transferred to Ironwood, where he has been stationed since that time. He and his wife have eight children, 3 girls and 5 boys ranging in age from 14 years to 9 months. He is a member of the Gogebic County and the Upper Peninsula Law Enforcement Associations.

Edward Dorie, a native of Marquette, and a graduate of Graveland High School attended Northern Michigan University for two years. He became a Conservation Officer in 1947 and was stationed at Strongs in Chippewa County and is now assigned to Manistique. He is the father of 8 children, 6 boys and 2 girls, ranging in age from 24 to 8. He is a member of the Upper Peninsula Law Enforcement Association.

DETROIT (AP) — The Great Lakes survey, conducted by the Army Corps of Engineers, shows water levels continuing to rise. Levels reported are 16 to 40 inches above record lows, including the 1965 record dips for Lakes Michigan, Huron and Ontario.

Lundgaard Will Head 3 Mills

Fred E. Lundgaard of Indianapolis has been appointed to the new position of general manager of veneer operations of the General Plywood Corp., Louisville, Ky. His office will be at the Antigo, Wis., plant.

Lundgaard is well known in the industry for his association with the Birds Eye Veneer Co. of Escanaba. He was in charge of Birds Eye's Indianapolis office for years.

In establishing the veneer operation, General Plywood is implementing plans to make their veneers available on the open market as well as for the parent firm's panel and door plants.

Lundgaard will be responsible for all veneer manufacturing and sales, including production at Burkes Falls and South River, Ontario. The latter plant recently was constructed as part of the company's $1,800,000 expansion program. The veneer plants at Antigo and Burkes Falls also have been modernized.

Under the new company policy, the three veneer mills will operate autonomously with full profit responsibility under Lundgaard. Total production capacity of General's veneer operation is now 13 million square feet per month in birch, maple, elm, oak, basswood and other northern woods. Product output to be offered manufacturers of furniture and hardwood plywood include flitch stock and spliced faces.

A native of Escanaba, Lundgaard is a veteran of World War II having served in the U.S. Marine Corps. He and Mrs. Lundgaard will move from Indianapolis to Antigo with their children, Fred Jr., 20, James 17, and Mary Kay, 13.

Tech Students Start Statues

HOUGHTON — The 1968 Blue Key Winter Carnival at Michigan Tech got off to a ripping start here this week as snow plows, tractors and snow blowers were used to gather snow for the event's 23 emerging statues.

Before the statues are completed for the event Jan. 30 - Feb. 1, 800 to 900 Michigan Tech students will have put in between 50,000 and 75,000 hours of work on the statues. The theme this year is "Disney's Wonderful World in Ice."

The Winter Carnival will include a stage revue of skits presented by the students, a queen talent contest, dog sled races with students pulling the sleds, a hockey game between the MTU Huskies and Michigan State, skiing competition, beard contest and Sno Ball.

State Of The Union

President Johnson's State of the Union address to congress this week evoked the familiar partisan response. The Republicans were opposed to the heavy spending proposals. Even the Democrats were divided on the war in Vietnam, for which the President had no word of encouragement. He said the United States would keep trying to make peace and would halt the bombing when North Vietnam came to the peace table with a reasonable prospect that the talks will have results.

The President's estimate of the war cost at $25 billion a year was described by critics as too low; "more like $30 billions."

The President, Gov. George Romney suggested, told the nation that for a penny on the dollar "it could have the whole candy store." The President, in trying to reduce the cost of his proposed 10 per cent surcharge on incomes to a simplicity, said that for one cent on the dollar of income for the average person, the people could pay the federal tax bills for his spending program.

But the tax increase for which the President asked again — saying that there's danger to the national economy unless it's passed — wouldn't balance tax income and government spending. It would still be $8 billion out of whack and add that much to the national debt in a period which the President describes as the richest ever.

The President's address, said most commentators, described the country as in trouble, but not in crisis. It was a certain raiser for the 1968 presidential election campaign and set forth the early prospects for issues as they're now viewed by the President.

The war will be the biggest issue in the campaign, unless there's a change from the current stalemate and bleeding and while the President reported that we're winning everywhere in Vietnam and are ready to stop bombing when the communists are ready to talk peace, the State of the War is "Killing as Usual."

The President proposed large new spending to cure some of our domestic problems — $2.1 billion to train the unemployed and employ them; $1 billion to restore the hearts of the big cities; more housing for the low income people, $100 million to back up local and state efforts at crime control, etc.

The President got some of his most enthusiastic audience response when he said that something must be done about crime. But it is one thing to identify a huge public problem — for the umpteenth time — and another to correct it.

The President proposed a consumers counsel in the Justice Department to prosecute the gyms, more policemen, more prosecutors, more laws, more controls. He must arouse dismay among people who believe that if the citizenry is predacious, if the economy is predacious, if the government is predacious, there cannot possibly be a healthy nation because there is not a wholesome one.

Our national leadership is trying to minimize public awareness of the war and its dark prospect. It describes Americans as unprecedentedly prosperous to give the administration an identity with prosperity.

But we are in a major war with Red China and Red Russia in Vietnam and trying to keep some sort of home front fiction that we can pay for it without extra sacrifice — meaning very heavy taxes — although the 10 per cent surtax proposed by the President is an acknowledgment that our debts are threatening to upset our financial equilibrium.

Americans should reject a political pitch and insist on a bill for our spending. Better to pay for it in taxes than in inflation, which destroys the value of the dollar.

The Johnson Administration is in trouble in its efforts to maintain the value of the dollar. That means that the nation is in trouble because it is OUR dollar. The President boasts the start of the eighth year of prosperity, but the world money sharks note that our currency is softened by 10 consecutive years of annual deficits in our balance of payments.

Money experts have told the President for years that the dollar was headed for crisis, but only the increasing deficit and fear of another speculative panic and drain on our shrinking gold reserves brought the President's unprecedented action restricting American foreign trade and investment to strengthen the dollar.

The results of his action are unpredictable, but the danger to the dollar is obvious. We have no balance of payments policy and until we do have one our dollar is a clay pigeon in foreign exchange.

What would an employee think of an employer who hadn't arranged to pay his bills for years? He'd think his job was shaky and it would be. And so is our dollar as mismanaged by the Johnson Administration.

Gasping

When people worry about the population explosion, as more of them are doing nowadays, they usually conjure up the specter of wide-spread starvation.

But famine may be the least of the consequences of world overpopulation, according to one scientist. Too much human life is endangering the very breath of life itself — the earth's supply of oxygen, says Cornell University biologist, Dr. Lamont C. Cole.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in New York, Cole warned that if the deterioration of the atmosphere is allowed to continue, we may reach a point where our consumption of oxygen outruns the capacity of the plant world to replenish it through photosynthesis.

Oxygen, as everyone knows, is necessary for combustion, from the burning of a candle to the metabolism of food in the body. We are, in effect, burning our oxygen candle from both ends.

At the one end, we are consuming greater amounts of fossil fuels every year to meet the growing needs of a growing population, thereby both using greater amounts of oxygen to burn these fuels and releasing greater amounts of carbon dioxide into the air (not to mention other pollutants).

At the other end, we are annually removing millions of green acres from the photosynthetic cycle through road building and the expansion of cities. To an unknown extent, we are also polluting the oceans, where most of the earth's photosynthesis takes place.

Anyone still unconvinced about the actual dangers of pollution might put this in his file.

Opossum Pushing Range Northward In Michigan

The Virginia opossum, that venerable marsupial (carrying its young in a pouch) of the North American continent, now has firmly established generations of relatives in Lower Michigan.

Something is attracting him to stay, though Prof. William Prychodko of the Wayne State University Biology Department says biologists can't figure why he started to expand his range some time ago.

Bore Possum fares best south of the Great Lakes region in the range from eastern Nebraska to New York.

Dr. Prychodko said the expansion of the opossum's geographic range is similar to the advance north from Texas of the armadillo to Oklahoma and other states.

New generations of opossums are chewing their way from the Southern states through Farmer Brown's garden, and through practically anything else, animal and vegetable, including corn, until they have spread throughout the southern half of the Lower Peninsula of Michigan. Somewhere, around 1950, they even managed to establish residence in Ontario, Canada.

Southerners find the opossum a fine ingredient for the succulent southern dish of possum and sweet potatoes. Northerners, unable to acquire a taste for such a delicacy, are having more trouble with the omnivorous animal than most feel he is worth.

Michigan hunters not interested in eating the bristly mammal would rather not waste their shells. The opossum often diverts corn hounds and sometimes gets caught in traps set for foxes.

The hungry arboreal, or tree climber, has somehow managed to acclimate himself to the state's wild winters and apparently intends to stay, despite the marks on his ears and tail indicating frost bite.

Viewers of Michigan wildlife may see opossums eating fresh eggs from birds' nests, a particular delicacy for the animals.

The slow moving marsupial is well known for his ability to play dead so that the only giveaway to his act is his body temperature.

A few opossums have been found in the Upper Peninsula, but they are off range here, the severity of winter and the deep snows making habitat too hostile.

Some years ago we used to write about a character named Larceny Lou. Lou was a good player but he also was tricky. He bid and played in an effort to confuse his opponents and frequently succeeded.

Today's South might well be a prototype of this character. He had no reason to go beyond game after his partner signed off at four hearts. In fact he had very little reason to make any slam try at all, but he had such a fine opportunity to make two fake cue bids that he could not resist the temptation.

West fell for the deception hook, line and sinker and opened his ace of clubs. This was just what South wanted but he still wasn't home with his contract. He needed a club continuation and the right club continuation. East dropped the six and South falsecarded with the seven.

West looked for the deuce but it wasn't in sight. He assumed that his partner had the card and was signaling with the six so West continued with the three of clubs.

This was all South needed. Dummy's 10 won the trick. Trumps were drawn with three leads. Two of dummy's spades went on the king and queen of clubs and South had stolen his slam.

Stolen may be too strong a word. West had given it to him. We can't really criticize West for his club lead. Ace leads against slams are likely to be good ones, but we do think his second play was just ridiculous.

He had heard the bidding and seen the dummy, and it should have been obvious to him that South had been faking his diamond and spade bids in order to get a club lead. He had received that lead, but there was no need for a continuation. Finally, if West had continued he would still have been all right if he had played the jack instead of the three.

FULBRIGHT

This term at Alma College the students are required to read Senator J. William Fulbright's "The Arrogance of Power". In this book, Senator Fulbright, the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, deals with a topic so omnipresent and powerful and even controversial, if you read it, as to amaze you by his analysis. His approach to viewing our country and its present conflicts is a commonsensical one most worthy of at least recognition. I admit that it takes practically a literary masterpiece to excite me, but in this case this man's mere expressions are of a quality most dynamic.

I definitely feel that too many people that I am acquainted with in the Escanaba area are ignorant of what this man so explicitly professes. His views of the Vietnam situation will probably surprise you as they did me. Thus, if you adhere to common sense at least a little, give this author a chance. Read what this distinguished foreign relations expert has to say about us — America, and our affairs with our international neighbors.

People, Events Of Yesteryears

From the Files of the Escanaba Daily Press

25 Years Ago

Fewer marriages and fewer divorces in Delta County during 1942 indicate another wartime effect. There were 249 marriages performed in the county, which was the lowest total in the past five years. The total number of divorces, 25, was also the lowest for the past five years.

The directors of the First National Bank elected the following officers to serve for the present year: Leslie French, president; George Harder, vice president; Eugene Royce, cashier; and Henry Peterson and Earle Harris, assistant cashiers.

50 Years Ago

H. D. Brackett, sales manager for the Ford Automobile Co., in the county, put all ancient coin owners out of the running when he produced an Egyptian coin bearing the date of 1314. Mr. Brackett has an extensive coin collection.

With a total of 856 surgical dressings made in a single day, the Red Cross workers at the Knights of Columbus Club surpassed all records for the Delta County Chapter.

Ann Landers

Lock For Bedroom Can Insure Privacy

Dear Ann Landers: We are in our mid-thirties and have been married eight years. Our twin boys (three years old) are unusually energetic and refuse to nap during the day. They do sleep 12 hours a night, however, and my pediatrician says this is adequate rest and not to worry.

The problem is not with the boys but with their father. He seems to think that whenever he gets a romantic notion (which is often) I should drop everything and make like Madame Pompadour.

Yesterday my husband came home at noon to have lunch and pack for a three-day trip to Montreal. He told me to put the kids outside for a little while because he was feeling amorous. I was in the middle of the laundry and explained that during the day I have to be a mother first and a sweetheart second, but he wouldn't listen. He walked out of the house and slammed the door — mad as hops.

Please come up with a solution to this problem, Ann, because it is sure to come up again. — AROUND THE CLOCK MISTRESS

Dear Clock: If you have never heard of a lock for a bedroom door, I recommend that you check into it. It certainly beats trying to figure out ways to get rid of the kids and it also beats — oh, well, read the next letter:

Dear Ann Landers Recently you published a letter from a woman who complained bitterly because her husband wouldn't leave her alone. She said he couldn't pass her in the kitchen without giving her a little pinch or a pat and that she was exhausted because his sex appetite was so much greater than hers. I wish she would send me her husband and take mine. Believe me, she'd get so much rest that after a while she'd be glad to take her octopus back.

I am in my 30's and so is Jim. He is in perfect health, has a fine disposition and is a wonderful father. If he had a half-way decent sex drive he would be an ideal husband. Jim never initiates anything. If I didn't make the first move nothing would happen. I feel like a lewd woman.

I've talked to our doctor and he says Jim's problem is psychological and he will tell Jim so if he'll come to the office, Jim refuses to go. He claims I am oversexed and it is MY problem — not his. Please don't suggest that he talk to a psychiatrist. Jim thinks they are all nuts.

I love the guy and would never cheat on him, so I guess I am just writing to let others know that there is something worse than too much loving. Not enough. My signature can be — A GUEST AT A BANQUET WHO IS HUNGRY

Dear Guest: Most people who are hungry are not actually starving to death, they would just like more food.

My advice is to keep "initiating things" and stop feeling like a lewd woman. Some men would go to their graves celibate if the woman didn't make the first move. If you alter your attitude and stop being so resentful Jim might respond in a way that will surprise you.

Dear Ann Landers: I married a successful and gregarious widower. Soon I will be expected to entertain a great deal. I'm a career girl who needs some major hints on how to give a really smashing dinner party. Can you recommend some good recipe books? — HOSTESS WITH THE LEAS-TESS

Dear Hostess: Recipe books can be found in any book store and you can get some superb recipes from the food section of many papers, but just between us girls, it's not what's on the table that makes a smashing dinner party — it's what's on the chairs.

What awaits you on the other side of the marriage veil? How can you be sure your marriage will work? Read Ann Landers' booklet "Marriage — What to Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50c in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Peltier

Joseph Peltiers Mark 55 Years On Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Peltier, 2217 8th Ave. S., well known residents of Escanaba, are observing their 55th wedding anniversary, Sunday, Jan. 21, with an open house from 2 to 5 p.m. at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Weber, 302 S. 14th St.

Formal invitations have not been sent out but a cordial invitation to all friends, relatives and neighbors is extended.

Mr. and Mrs. Peltier were married Jan. 21, 1913 at St. Patrick's Church in Escanaba by Rev. Edward Feldhaus, Mrs.

Story Time At Public Library

Bad days, dirty dogs, and sweaters that keep changing will be on the Story Time program this week. All boys and girls of the age of three and above are invited to attend. They are asked to come to the Children's Room of Escanaba Public Library at 10 a.m., Saturday.

The stories will be: "One Day Everything Went Wrong," "Harry the Dirty Dog," and "A White Sweater Must Be White."

Family Supper

A family supper will be held at the Evangelical Covenant Church Sunday evening at 5 for members and friends. The supper will be pot-luck and will be followed by a short program.

A filmstrip will be shown by Pastor James R. Swan and the group will join in a hymn-sing. Persons interested may contact Mrs. Mabel Crebo at 786-3500 or Miss Leona Anderson, 786-6142.

Buy, Build Or Rent Covered At Farmer's Week

EAST LANSING — How much house can you afford? Carlton Edwards, agricultural engineer with Michigan State University's Cooperative Extension Service, will discuss the question at Farmers' Week, Wednesday, Feb. 1, at 10 a.m. in MSU's Shaw Hall.

A specialist in housing, he will note that the amount a family spends on housing is an individual family decision, but there are some indications that many families spend more than they can afford.

He says one in five families can afford no more than $100 or $125 a month for a home. One family in four must spend less than $100 per month.

"Figure one fourth of your family income for housing. That would be the equivalent of one week's pay for housing each month," Edwards says.

The median family income is just under $6,500 a year, he adds. Therefore the average amount spent for housing each month should be about $125.

"Only about 12 per cent of yearly employed men earn $10,000 or more. But this is the amount of income you should have to buy most new homes. This means that about 88 per cent of the population must live in low-cost housing, usually a used house that may need extensive remodeling."

The specialist notes that lending agencies base loans and monthly mortgage payments on one-fourth of the head of household income. The same rule applies to renting.

"In judging how much your family can afford to pay out, remember that family income can change, particularly for the young family," Edwards says. Most young families can expect an increase in income as the husband advances in his work. Renting is a short term commitment, so it's more easily adjusted to income.

"Only a small portion of the population makes more than $10,000 a year, or can afford $200 a month for a place to live. Picking a house in that type of neighborhood means pressure to meet the same social and cultural levels, too," he adds.

Edwards concludes that spending for housing is one of the most important consumer decisions a family makes, and should be well thought through to fit their needs and desires.

The housing topic is just one of a wide variety planned for the women's programs at Farmers' Week, which runs from Jan. 29 to Feb. 2.

Ford River PTA Announces Bundle Day

The Ford River PTA held their January meeting at the school Wednesday with Presiding, Mrs. Dan Wellman, presiding.

PTA officers, program chairman, and council delegates are reminded of the council meeting at the Jefferson School Monday, Jan. 22 at 7:30 p.m.

It was announced that Mrs. John McMahon will be school librarian and Principal John Holchowst invited parents to visit school any time during the school day.

Holchowst informed the group that Jan. 29 is Bundle Day and donations of good, clean, children's clothes are to be sent to school with the children. The clothes will be sent to Nashville, Tenn., for the children of Appalachia. The room award went to Mr. Holchowst's 6th grade.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Richard Jaeger, Mrs. Jean Grenfell, Mrs. Beverly Moraco, Mrs. George Halstead, Mrs. William Ness, Mrs. Lawrence Kidd, Mrs. Malcolm Flodin, Mrs. Chris Bojanac, Mrs. Joe Rademacher and Mrs. Stanley Plis.

MR. AND MRS. Harland Christiansen of Wilson announce the engagement of their daughter, Roberta Joy, to David G. Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Murphy of Auburn Heights, N. Y. The bride-elect is a graduate of Powers - Spalding High School and Gale Institute of Minneapolis, Minn. She is presently employed as a reservationist for Northwest Orient Airlines in Seattle, Wash. Her fiancé is a graduate of West High School, Auburn, and served three years in the U. S. Navy. He attended Gale Institute of Minneapolis and is presently employed as a draftsman for the Boeing Aircraft Co., Seattle. A fall wedding is planned.

Dear Gals:

When you give yourself a home permanent — or even have a "store-boughten" one — it sometimes comes out too curly . . . you know what I mean? And there's not too much you can do about it, is there?

Well, short of a haircut, I learned to shampoo my hair again and while it is STILL DRIPPING WET, to spray the curliest ends with nearly any brand of hair spray. You will find that a comb will then slide through it as if you were polishing a sheet of glass with oil.

Furthermore, while the hair is still wet, roll it up on bigger rollers than you ordinarily use. And let it AIR dry. That means it dries naturally, and NOT with a hair dryer.

There's something in this hair spray that seems to answer our problem. Remember, this will not take the tight curl out of your hair, but it will certainly help you until it grows out.

Another thing I learned was if you wash your hair a day or two before, you will have some of your own natural oil in it when you give yourself that permanent.

I have used this method the last two times and it works perfectly.

P.S. And don't stay on the phone yakking with friends when it's time to undo those permanent curls. Five extra minutes are what causes the kinks. Do what I say and NOT what I did!

Dear Heloise:
I've just discovered another handy use for the little plastic scoops we all buy in the dime store for sugar or flour.

Today when I made cupcakes, I used the scoop to keep the drippy batter from running all over the edges of the cupcake papers and pans.

With a twist of the wrist and a scoop of cupcake batter, the job was done in no time at all.

'Dance Variations' Delight Concertgoers

Man's emotions, his sensitivities, his brashness, can be expressed in many ways. Classical, swing, folk or western music does it, drama with the use of speech and gesture does it, but an idiom not often seen in this area did it in fine fashion at the W. W. Oliver Memorial Auditorium last evening.

I refer, of course, to the Michael Maule dancers who appeared in program in the Community Concert series.

It must be said that not too many males have braved the silent censure that comes with ballet presentation. Those who did, however, joined the fairer sex in applause after applause for the artistry that was displayed by Michael Maule and Dulce Anaya in the seldom seen, "Snow Maiden," of Tchaikovsky, or the comic "Mozart versus Ballet," by Maule and Jeanne-Marie Aubert. Pleasing too, was Lawrence Grady who did the nostalgic, "The Old Soft Shoe," as a feature.

While it was apparent that real art was on display, too much cannot be said about the entertainment value of Michael Maule's program. With spoken commentary by Maule himself, and the informal nature of some of the staging there was interest for all. The intermissions were a little too long, and there was some minor difficulty with lights, but otherwise the program was an unexpected highlight in our ever more enjoyable Community Concerts. AROL E. Go Ahead Given Red Owl Shopping Center

City To Vacate Streets, Alleys

Construction of a Red Owl Family Center — the first major shopping center development in Escanaba — will begin next spring on a 12-acre site on N. 23rd St., the City Council was told at its Thursday night meeting.

The Council gave the project a "go ahead" when it approved a Planning Commission recommendation to vacate streets and alleys in the area to be occupied by the Red Owl stores and parking lots.

The area is located between 1st and 3rd Aves. N., to the west of N. 23rd St., including the Blue Roof Motel which will be removed to make room for parking. On the north the area is bounded by the Chicago & North Western Railway right of way.

Joel Solomon and Tom Johnson of the Red Owl Stores, Inc., Hopkins, Minn., appeared before the Council to explain details of the proposal and to assure the Council that construction will go forward as soon as possible.

"The Red Owl Family Center will be finished in September," said Solomon. "This building will be the first phase of the project and will have 73,500 square feet of floor space."

$1 Million Investment

There will be a second phase of construction in which an additional building of approximately 57,000 square feet will be built to house shops and stores other than food. Solomon said Red Owl will welcome the interest of local persons who may wish to establish a business in the second phase building project.

James E. Gottlieb, vice president and director of real estate for Red Owl, at a meeting of the Planning Commission in Escanaba assured the city that not less than 120 and possibly as many as 150 persons will be employed in the Red Owl Family Center. There are now about 25 employed by Red Owl here.

The investment in the project will be a minimum of $1 million and could run to $1.4 million, Johnson told the Council last night.

Returns to the city, the county and schools in additional tax revenue from the investment will be from $15,000 to $25,000 annually—a gain of $13,000 to $22,000 over the present tax revenue from property on the site.

Red Owl has been assured by consultants that Escanaba has a trade area with a population of 60,000, and Escanaba is not now getting "its proportionate share of the trade."

The present Red Owl Store at 10th St. and 1st Ave. S. will continue in operation. The Council and the Planning Commission were told by Red Owl representatives that they believe the shopping center will create additional—not less—trade for the community and that the downtown business district will be helped because there will be more shopping dollars brought to Escanaba.

Sign Ordinance

Mayor Harold Vanlerberghe expressed appreciation of the Council in Red Owl's decision to make a substantial investment in the city.

The Council discussed (in other business) the need for sign ordinance revision and in particular the recommendation of City Manager George Harvey that signs should not be allowed to project over the sidewalk. The Chamber of Commerce and the Safety Committee will be asked to study the proposed changes and make a recommendation to the Council not later than Feb. 15.

Ken Dorman of the Upper Michigan Tourist Association reported to the Council on the activities and services of the Association and the need for continuing financial support of the promotion program.

The Council voted to discontinue an agreement for the use of city-owned land in the industrial zone by the Bay de Noc Cart Club; and discussed the need for a uniform system of street names and house numbers.

For Recreation

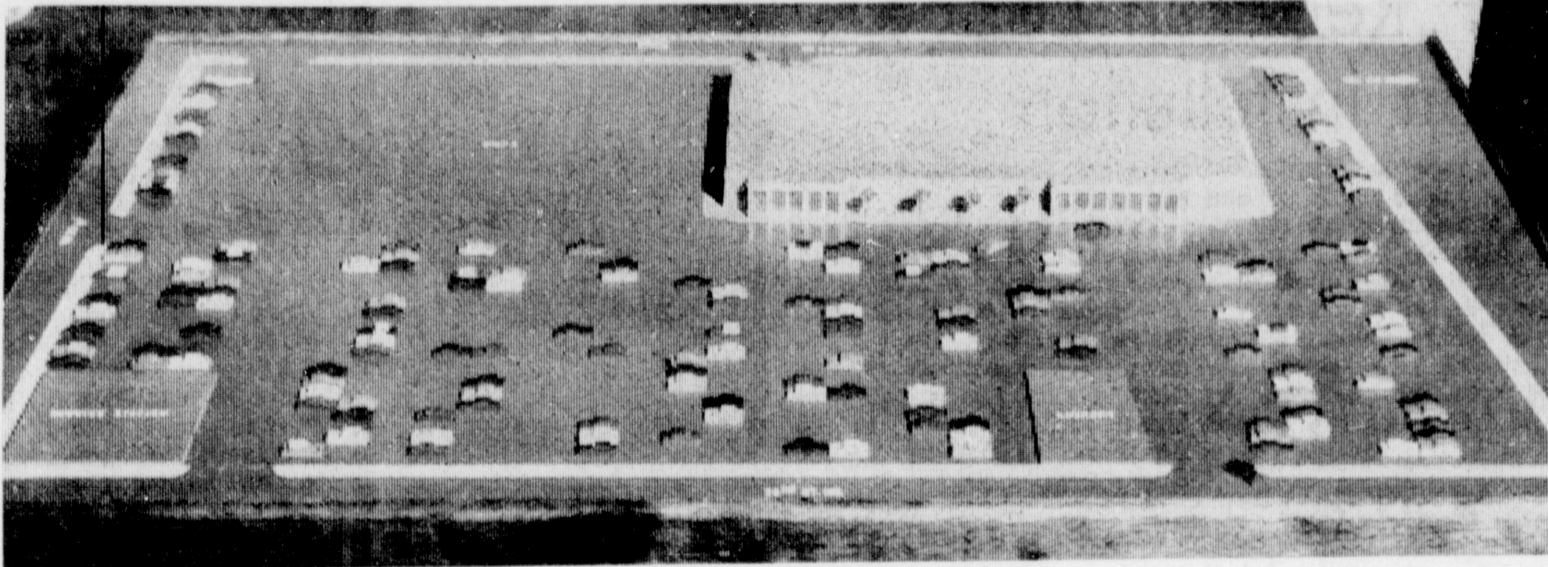

A declaration of policy for the recertification of the city's Workable Program for community improvement was approved and the manager was authorized to submit the program for recertification to federal agencies.

Change orders affecting the construction of the airport terminal building were approved. The cost will be an estimated $2,706 increase of which the city will pay one-half and the state the remainder.

A recommendation of the Recreation Commission opposing a request by Bero Motors to purchase a city-owned lot in the watertower recreation site was adopted by the Council.

A permit was approved for Harnischfeger Corp. to erect a fence along a city street near the truck crane plant where a building expansion is under way; and a permit was granted the Chicago & North Western Railway for a new crossing over Sheridan Road.

The date of Feb. 1 was set for hearing objections to extensions of water service; and the Council adopted a resolution calling for support of the program to construction shore-

THIS SCALE MODEL of the Red Owl Family Shopping Center was shown to the City Council at its meeting Thursday night, when the Council approved vacating streets and alleys for the development. Pictured is the center as viewed from N. 23rd St. looking west in the 200 and 300 blocks.

The present Norge Village, a laundry, at the north, and a gas station at the south side, will remain. Others buildings including the Blue Roof Motel will be razed. (Daily Press Photo) expert in rehabilitation of the blind, claimed the retinas of their eyes were destroyed.

The story touched off a widespread search by newsmen for identity of the students. Yoder had refused to identify the college or name the students, but said all had resumed academic studies at different schools.

State officials, including Georges, backed his story, as did Joseph Hunt, U.S. commissioner of rehabilitation services.

Hunt said in Washington there was never any reason to doubt Yoder's word, that he was always "very careful and cautious in what he said."

Georges also noted Yoder's concern over LSD.

"He told me that he had attended a conference last summer where he heard a research ophthalmologist talk on the effects of LSD on the eye," Georges said. "He said he became very much concerned about the large number of youngsters exposed to LSD and felt there must be something he could do as an individual to emphasize the need for more programs to control it."

A 1934 graduate of braille classes in the Cleveland, Ohio, public school system, Yoder received a B.A. from Baldwin Wallace College, Berea, Ohio, an M.A. in political science from Ohio State University in 1938, and a Ph.D. in public administration at Ohio State in 1942.

Abraham said that 2,000 paying customers must be obtained or the service will not be started. Translator systems are now operating successfully in the Iron Mountain and Marquette areas.

Levin Prepares Program To Heal Democrat Split

LANSING (AP) — A program designed to mend Michigan's divided Democratic party in preparation for 1968 campaign and to debate issues behind the split was unveiled Thursday by the party's new state chairman, Sen. Sander Levin.

The 36-year-old Berkley attorney told a news conference that Democrats will hold a "Democratic weekend" Feb. 10-11, featuring talks on "Vietnam and American foreign policy."

The meeting, he said, will be the first of several planned for 1968, accompanied by a series of informal area conferences throughout the state.

Plan Fund Raising

Plans also are being prepared for a voter registration drive, said Levin, who took over the chairmanship last month from Zoltan Ferency amid party leaders' hopes that he could draw together factions warring over Johnson administration policies.

Fund-raising plans include sale of V-68 (victory in 1968) memberships for $15 each to get money for the State Central Committee and county and district organizations in preparation for this year's elections.

The "Democratic weekend" will open Feb. 10 at Michigan State University in East Lansing.

The second day will be devoted to a meeting of the State Central Committee and other party leaders "to discuss a blueprint for organizational progress," Levin said.

"In accepting the chairmanship I tried to make clear my strong belief that the Democratic party of Michigan must be both build and debate," said Levin. "One without the other is not enough."

Debate Issues

"The Democratic weekend will give us the opportunity to do both—debate one of the vital issues of our time and build our party structure for the campaign ahead," he added.

Speakers at the first issues conference will include representatives of both sides of the Vietnam-foreign policy argument, Levin said.

Prof. Wesley Fishel of the MSU Department of Political Science and Prof. Milton Sacks of the Brandeis University Department of Politics will speak for the proadministration side, he said.

Mark Ethredge Jr., of the Detroit Free Press and Prof. Max Mark of the Wayne State University Political Science Department will present the antiadministration argument.

Expert Views

Dr. Harold Spaeth, associate professor of political science at MSU and conference chairman, described the conference as designed to present expert points of view for digestion by party members.

Party leaders hope to hold other conferences dealing with state issues and national domestic issues—including the problems of an urban society—later in the year, Levin said.

The informal area conferences will get under way at Saginaw on Jan. 27, the chairman said, with others set for Marquette, Feb. 4; Flint and Lapeer, Feb. 7; Kalamazoo, Feb. 17; and Cadillac, tentatively scheduled for the end of February.

Plan Party

A champagne reception for purchasers of the V-68 memberships will be held in conjunction with the area conferences and a $25 per ticket fund-raising cocktail party is planned at Detroit's Ponchartrain Hotel on Feb. 9, Levin added.

The area conferences will include "the most vigorous and informal discussion among our leaders on what our needs are," Levin said.

The chairman said there are an estimated 1.3 million unregistered voters in the state, 793,000 in Wayne, Oakland and Genesee counties alone.

At least 70 per cent of the 793,000 are believed to be Democrats, he added.

Dual Role Good

Questioned about his dual role as state chairman and state senator, Levin predicted that his involvement in both areas would be "helpful."

"My feeling is that this party does not want a chairman who decides not to take a position," he said. "It wants leadership which has a position and undertakes to adopt that position, but only after discussion."

"They expect me to speak my mind after speaking with them," he added. "They don't want a nonentity as chairman, but someone who dips in after consultation."

Levin described the contest for the 23rd District State Senate seat left vacant by the death of Sen. Harold Volkema, R-Holland, as "formidable."

However, he said he did not "write off" Democratic chances in the district, made up of Ottawa, Allegan and Van Buren counties and part of Barry County.

"Regardless of whether it is won or lost in terms of the election, it can be won in terms of party development," he said.

List Increased Street Funding

Michigan's more than 500 municipalities will receive an estimated $21.3 million in additional revenue from the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund in 1969 as a result of the recently passed increases in the state gas and weight tax, the State Highway Commission reports.

The Highway Commission said the municipal share, totaling $49.7 million in 1967, will increase to an estimated $59.5 million in 1968 and an estimated $71 million in 1969.

The governmental units will share nearly a full year of increased gas tax revenues this year. Weight tax increases take effect next November and the full amount is reflected in 1969 estimates.

The list includes cities of this area whose estimated highway revenues for 1967, 1968 and 1969 are:

Daggett—$7,758-$8,512-$9,823; Escanaba—$147,707 - 174,217-$207,470; Garden—$5,886 - $6,554 - $7,611; Gladstone—$60,786 - $69,878 - $82,322; Manistique—$45,547 - $52,653-$62,138; Powers—$7,691 - $8,502 - $9,842; Stephenson—$14,350 - $15,910 - $18,443.

College Trustees Schedule Action On Millage Vote

The Bay de Noc Community College Board of Trustees will meet in special session at 7:30 p. m. today to make a "decision regarding the millage election."

The millage question is one of two items listed on the special agenda released by the college today. The other concerns personnel recommendations.

The Board of Trustees previously passed a resolution to ask voters of the county for 1.4 mills for operating expenses. No date for the election has been established.

Home Nursing Care Available

Services available under home nursing and physical therapy programs of the Delta-Menominee District Health Dept. were discussed at a meeting of the Community Advisory Committee to the Home Health Service Wednesday night.

Members of the group included Fr. Norbert Freiburger of Wells; Joseph Laskar, associate administrator of St. Francis Hospital; Clancy Moore, physical therapist of Escanaba; Larry Curran, Delta County Social Services director; Thomas McDermott, Escanaba, Marquette - Alger - Delta Mental Health compact; Katy Nichols, St. Francis Hospital; Thomas Vietzke, Rapid River; Mrs. Levi Perron, Escanaba; David Farnand, Escanaba, and Dr. Mary Cretens, Nancy Pearson and Louise Blanchette of the Health Dept.

Home nursing and physical therapy service can be rendered on a part-time or intermittent visiting basis by the health dept. A physical therapist is employed by the department on a contract. A written plan of treatment plus a statement of certification that care is needed is required from the person's physician to obtain the services.

According to the Health Dept., on orders received after noon persons will be seen the following day. No weekend service is provided.

Home care services are not restricted to the medically indigent or to those over 65 who are under Medicare. Services are available to anyone on a sliding fee-for-service basis with the patient or family given the opportunity to pay what they can. No person will be refused because of the inability to pay.

Services include: intramuscular and subcutaneous injections (initial dose of antibiotics, allergens and antigens must be given by physician); female catheterization, bladder irrigations; enemas, douches, irrigation of wounds, ears and colostomies; tube feeding; dressings, compresses, suture removal; bed and bath care; blood pressure, temperature, pulse, respiration; therapeutic exercises and family instructions for same, also instruction in use of special diets and administration of insulin; drawing blood for special tests, and physical therapy.

Rev. R. Hueter Guest Speaker At Immanuel

Rev. Robert Hueter

Rev. Robert Hueter, a missionary to the island of New Guinea, will speak at Immanuel Lutheran Church at both morning worship services Sunday, Jan. 21. At noon a potluck dinner will be served and Rev. Hueter will show slides of New Guinea at 1 p.m.

The Evangelical Lutheran Church of New Guinea is a self governing church established in 1956. It has a baptized membership of approximately 316,000 Christians with over 2,000 full-time workers serving in the church and is supported by native congregations. It is one of the fastest growing mission church in the world at the present time.

Rev. Hueter was born in Nobonob, Madang, New Guinea. He received his education at Napoleon High School; Capital University, and Capital Seminary in Columbus, Ohio.

Rev. and Mrs. Hueter left in 1952 to begin mission work in New Guinea, which is the largest of the 12 mission fields of the American Lutheran Church. They have just completed their second term of mission service.

New Guinea is often thought of as an island of headhunting and stone age culture. While this is true in some areas it is also true that modern culture is rapidly changing the old ways of life.

Because of the lack of roads each mission station has a runway and supplies are brought in by four planes owned by the church. The stations on the coast are supplied by the Simbang, a steamship owned by the church.

All members and friends are cordially invited to hear Rev. Hueter and stay for dinner and his slide presentation.

IMPRESSIVE FOYER: A most dramatic entrance foyer greets the visitor, who can see the living room beyond as well as the sliding glass doors that lead to the rear terrace.

BALANCED COLONIAL: Everything seems to be exactly in place in this two-story Colonial. Note the identical dormers and the matching front windows. Even the downswEEP of the garage roof is in harmonious relations with the overall architectural style.

Authentic Early American

By ANDY LANG

Authentic traditional details highlight this thoroughly modern two-story house.

It has the narrow clapboards, corner boards, vertical boards-and-battens and several other early American touches peculiar to this style of architecture. The dormers have been carefully scaled to hold down the proportion needed to achieve good balance. And the garage, with its swept-down roof, is well designed to provide additional balance between the house and the adjacent wing.

In creating this plan, architect Herman H. York not only found space for five bedrooms, but did so in a house with more glamour than is customary in a traditional residence.

Perhaps the most exciting design element is the two-story entrance foyer with a continuous balcony railing framing the area. Directly ahead of this dramatic and somewhat opulent feature (foyers seem to be getting more luxurious of late) is the living room, which stretches in the rear of the house. In fact, the living room is one of four principal rooms that face the privacy of the rear, the other three being the dining room, family room and master bedroom. The terrace can be reached directly from the living room, dining room and family room.

The family room is truly that, being tucked into an area remote from the formal rooms adjacent to the entrance foyer. The fireplace, located in this room, is flanked by two large storage closets for folding chairs, toys and games. Sliding glass doors connect the family room to the terrace.

Near the family room is a service complex — laundry, lavatory and mud closet. In this plan, the laundry equipment is not in a closet, but in a sizeable laundry room. There is space for a laundry tub as well as a washer and dryer, closet, counter for storage and an ironing board. The direct access to the two-car garage from this area means that a wash-up room is available to the home gardener or week-end auto mechanic. A huge storage alcove in the garage can accommodate power equipment, garden supplies, bicycles, etc.

The two bedrooms on the first floor are completely separated from the noise of the family room, laundry and kitchen. If bedroom No. 2 is used as a den or sitting room for the owner, a complete master suite is made possible. The split-type bathroom is hidden from view of the entrance foyer. There is a bank of closets in the master bedroom. Wall space is excellent for twin beds and several pieces of furniture.

The large kitchen — nearly 21' long — has plenty of space for a full dinette set.

Upstairs, there are three good sized bedrooms. Care was taken to obstruct the view directly into these rooms from the foyer below. A split bathroom allows dual use of these facilities.

Architect York has designed two garage doors, not only for convenience but to keep the scale of these openings in proper relationship with the rest of the house. A large single door might draw attention away from the more important elements of the facade. A seemingly minor matter to a layman, this detail is typical of the care that has gone into the creation of this house.

U Told To Limit Secret Research

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A faculty committee Thursday urged University of Michigan to limit its classified research projects and reject any contract for research designed to "destroy human life or to incapacitate human beings."

The recommendations came on the heels of recent student and faculty protests against some military research projects under way at the university.

The faculty's Committee on Research Policies called for approval of research programs first by the faculty before U-M signs contracts on projects.

It suggested U-M turn down any research contract which "would restrain its freedom to disclose the existence of the contract or the identity of the sponsor."

And it urged U-M to refuse research contracts that limit publication of the research results unless there is "reasonable expectation" that the research would contribute significantly to the advancement of knowledge or research capability of the researcher.

The committee will seek faculty approval of the report. It then will be proposed to the university board of regents.

Last November about 200 U-M students staged a sit-in to protest a university research project involving reconnaissance techniques to detect guerrilla activities in Thailand.

Convention Cash

DETROIT (AP)—Delegates to conventions in Detroit spent an estimated $38 million, a record amount, in 1967. The Detroit Convention Bureau said the amount was $8 million above the 1966 spending level, due mainly to an increase in conventions to 374 last year.

In This Corner

With RAY CRANDALL

Latest Upper Peninsula team to join the "century club" in scoring is St. Ignace, swamping downstate Onaway by a 117-38 margin in Straits-Huron Conference action . . . All 11 players on the St. Ignace team got into the act, headed by Clem O'Rourke with 26 points . . . The Saints boast an 8-1 season record.

Marenisco set a new school scoring record while trouncing Mercer, 101-28, in a Porcupine Mountain Conference game this week . . . The previous high was 94 in a game against Doelle in 1958 . . . Six Milltowners scored in double figures, led by Rick McKenzie with 22 points . . . The victory was Marenisco's sixth in seven league starts.

Ewen-Trout Creek blitzed Ironwood Catholic, 115-52, in another lopsided contest this week . . . Coach Rudy Perhalla's Panthers fashioned their eighth victory in nine starts behind a 36 point performance by Dick Pole who boosted his season total to 220 . . . In an earlier meeting of the same teams, Ewen-Trout Creek won by a 147-29 margin.

Randy Fochesato, Hermansville's 5 foot 11 inch senior, continues the deadly shooting that has made him one of the leading scorers in the Upper Peninsula the past two years . . . Coach Don Hill's marksman fired in 28 points in the narrow victory over Big Bay de Noc this week to boost his season total to 288 and his career mark to 1,211.

The best scoring average in the Upper Peninsula this season belongs to Dean Kent, veteran L'Anse star . . . The 6 foot senior has 256 points in eight games for an average of 32 per start . . . His 52 point barrage against Calumet two weeks ago is the top single game total in the U. P. this season.

Negaunee needed an early rally to wipe out a 13-4 deficit before registering a 74-67 decision over Gwinn . . . Coach Dave Hallgren, in his first year at Negaunee after serving as an assistant at Menominee the last several years, sends his Miners into action in a Great Lakes Conference game at Manistique tonight . . . The Miners were sharp from the foul line against Gwinn, tossing in 22 of 28 free throw attempts for their margin of victory.

Pat Miller of Menominee, a classy 6 foot 3 inch athlete, leads the Great Northern Conference in two major categories this season . . . He has scored 86 points and hauled down 48 rebounds in four straight Maroon victories.

The best shooter in the conference is Brian Ouimette of Iron Mountain, another 6 foot 3 inch senior standout . . . Ouimette, in two conference games, has scored 58 points and has connected on 22 of 42 shots from the field for 52 per cent . . . Steve Fisher of Holy Name has clicked on 11 of 21 shots for 52 per cent . . . Escanaba's John Moberg is the No. 2 rebounder in the GNC with 34 in three games and has made 17 of 34 shots from the field for 50 per cent.

Dave Vertanen, former outstanding prep cager at Rock and Chassell and the greatest scorer in Suomi College history, led the Lions to a 113-110 victory over Michigan Tech's jayvees with 29 points this week . . . Jon Cameron chipped in with 24 as Suomi ran its record to 10-2 at the semester break.

Craig Farrell, son of a former Ironwood High School basketball coach, scored 21 points for Michigan Tech as the Huskies bowed to Northern, 83-69 . . . Pacing the Wildcats to their sixth straight victory and eighth in 10 starts this season was guard Terry King, 5 foot 10 inch sophomore from Anderson, Ind., who hit 30 points for a career high.

Turbine Battle Goes To Court

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Race car builder Andy Granatelli has carried his fight against new U. S. Auto Club restrictions on turbine engines to federal court.

Granatelli said a series of USAC rules changes, including reduced air intake areas for turbines, amounted to arbitrary exclusion of his car.

Parnelli Jones of Torrance, Calif., outpaced the field in the 1967 Indianapolis 500 in Granatelli's STP Turbocar only to have a bearing burn out with three laps to go.

Granatelli said in New York Thursday he had planned a six-car team this year, using the engine which is too big under the new rule. He contended that USAC has an obligation to let experimental cars compete for a reasonable length of time.

The complaint, filed Thursday in federal court here, contends USAC moved to withhold USAC membership from both Granatelli and the STP Division of Studebaker Corp. Such action, the suit complained, deprived Granatelli and the corporation of the right to take part in USAC sanctioned auto races this year. The suit termed the club's action a move to keep him from suing or criticizing its rules.

U. S. District Judge William E. Steckler set March 4 for a preliminary hearing on the suit.

The veteran car builder told newsmen in New York he would like to run turbines in the season's first USAC event—at Hanford, Calif. March 17.

The suit asked the court to restore the original USAC turbine specifications, restore him and STP to membership and to award damages in an unspecified amount.

The 25-page complaint said he and STP spent "hundreds of thousands of dollars" developing the engine. He said "millions of dollars are spent by plaintiff STP in publicizing and exploiting the success of its racing cars and cars using its products."

Weekend Action

United States Olympic Jumpers To Be Picked At Pine Mountain

IRON MOUNTAIN (AP)—Probably the least known and least successful of the United States' Olympic forces are the ski jumpers.

A five-man squad, with the possibility of a sixth man, will be chosen Saturday and Sunday to represent Uncle Sam in the Winter Olympiad at Grenoble, France, Feb. 6-18.

About 50 jumpers will zoom down Pine Mountain from the world's highest artificial scaffold—a steel tower jutting 156 feet above the mountain top. From the time a jumper takes off until he lands he will have covered the distance of three football fields down the mountain side and dropped some 40 stories.

Judging is done on points for style and distance. The hill record jump is 325 feet, set in 1965 by John Balfanz, 27, registered from Denver. He is the ace of the U. S. squad.

Given ideal conditions, the 90-meter hill could produce an American distance record. This is 335 feet set by world champion Bjorn Wirkola of Norway at Leavenworth, Wash.

Stretching for distance in a graceful ride of air currents—the body bent forward nearly to the ski tips—makes this sport one of the most fascinating and dangerous of all.

From the great "flying hill" of Oberstdorf, Germany, Nilo Zandanel of Italy sailed to a world record of 472 feet in 1964. The best standing jump by an American is 431 by Gene Kotlarek on the same hill. He did 454 but fell.

Organized ski jumping on a national level was born 64 years ago at Ishpeming, although the hardy Scandinavians of that area had been riding the hills for years. The first national tournament was won with a 77-foot jump.

But over the years, the U. S. has failed to break through for any Olympic medals. It is unlikely the team can do it this time in competition dominated by Wirkola, Dieter Neuendorf of East Germany and Jiri Raska of Czechoslovakia.

The best our Olympic squad could do on a recent European tour was a 33rd place by Balfanz. He finished 41st in the 1964 Olympics at Innsbruck, Austria while the best our four-man team could accomplish was 24th by Kotlarek, who has since given up competition after an injury.

The best showing ever made in the Olympics by the U. S. was a fourth place by Anders Haugen in 1924 at Chamonix, France. Fifth places were taken by Casper Oimoen at Lake Placid, N.Y., in 1932 and by Gordon Wren at St. Moritz, Switzerland, in 1948.

"Although we've been at it a long time, we are not a strong power in ski jumping," says U.S. Olympic Coach Art Tökle. "Helped by our junior program and competition on tours with the world's best, interest is growing and perhaps we might place someone on top in the near future."

"We only have an outside chance this year against such skiers as Raska. I feel we would have a good showing if the U.S. finishes ahead of West Germany, Italy, Finland and Sweden."

The consensus is that the top five competing in the trials this weekend are Balfanz, serviceman Bill Bakke, 21, of Madison, Wis.; Dave Norby, 25, Madison; Jay Martin, 22, Minneapolis and University of Wyoming; and Randy Garretson, 20, Seattle and University of Denver.

Other main contenders are Jerry Martin, 16, Minneapolis; Adrian Watt, Dave Lundmark, Dave Hicks, Ken Harkins and Greg Swor, all of Duluth; and Gary Sparpana, Iron Mountain. Another topnotcher, John Bowler of Auburn, Me., is not entered in the trials. He has left with the Nordic combined squad for Europe.

Lew Alcindor Remains Tallest Question Mark

HOUSTON (AP)—Lew Alcindor remained the tallest question mark in America today as UCLA and Houston finished preparations for their showdown in the Astrodome Saturday night.

Alcindor, the 7-foot-1 rallying point of the awesome Bruins, sat it out Thursday night, a patch covering his injured left eye, as his UCLA teammates rolled over Portland 93-69 in Los Angeles.

Tigers Sign Free Agents

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers announced Thursday the signing of seven free agents, including Don Fox, son of former Detroit outfielder Pete Fox.

Injured Wings Back With Team

DETROIT (AP)—The sagging Detroit Red Wings, in the midst of a six-game winless string, got some good news Thursday when doctors said forwards Paul Henderson and Dean Prentice could play in Saturday's National Hockey League game at Pittsburgh.

The Wings also recalled veteran defenseman Irv Spencer from Fort Worth in the Central League and sent rookie forwards Gary Marsh and Pete Mahovich back to the minor league club.

Spencer, 30, a veteran of 11 years in pro hockey, will spell rookie Bart Crasheley, out with a hip injury.

Henderson, one of the top left wingers in the NHL, has been sidelined for two weeks after suffering a shoulder separation in a game at Toronto. Prentice missed one game this week after undergoing minor surgery on his nose.

Former All-Star goalie Roger Crozier, who ended a two-month voluntary retirement last week, began his comeback at Fort Worth Wednesday night. He was beaten 4-3 by Dallas but Fort Worth Coach Fern Flaman said two of the four goals allowed by Crozier were the result of a faulty play by defensemen.

Maple Leafs Win Another

The Toronto Maple Leafs, who took advantage of the National Hockey League All-Star team goals by Gary Dornhoefer, Brit Selby and Bill Sutherland in a wasted little time taking the same advantage of the Boston Bruins.

The Leafs cut down the All-Stars 4-3 Tuesday night after Orr, Boston's super-sophomore defenseman, suffered a muscle bruise early in the game. With Orr still out, Toronto rushed to Boston and stopped the Bruins 4-2, tightening the East Division race.

In the West Division, Philadelphia increased its lead to eight points at St. Paul-Minneapolis by halting the North Stars 4-2 while Los Angeles climbed into second with a 3-2 home ice triumph over Pittsburgh.

Boston managed leads of 1-0 and 2-1 on goals by Ken Hodge and John McKenzie, but appeared disorganized without Orr, who will be out about a week.

Toronto goals by Wayne Carleton and Bob Pulford kept the Leafs even in the first period before Ron Ellis' 17th goal broke the last deadlock midway through the second period.

Jim Pappin added a power play clincher, his 12th, later in the session as fourth-place Toronto moved within four points of the top and kept Boston from tying Chicago in first place.

Owners Recognize Pro Grid Union

NEW YORK (AP)—National Football League players, with a strengthened bargaining line, have received recognition as a union from the owners and will huddle with them next month.

"No date has been set," Detroit guard John Gory, president of the Players' Association, told a press conference Thursday, "but it probably will be the middle of February."

Dan Schulman of Chicago, the legal counsel for the association, admitted that one of the plays the organization will carry into the meeting is the threat of a strike to gain its demands.

"It's always possible, but I don't conceive of such a thing at the moment," the attorney said. "We are not out to hurt the game, disrupt the league or interfere with its operation, and we do not intend to harm the general public."

Schulman, Gory, former association president and former player Bill Howton, quarterback Gary Wood of the New Orleans Saints, and Malcolm Kennedy, the association's business administrator, met with the press to explain what the organization is all about.

The players decided last week not to join an outside union such as the Teamsters, and instead to strengthen the Association. To do so, they had to identify themselves as a union.

"We are not back in business at the same old stand—we have a mandate (from the players)," Gory said.

25-Mile Snowmobile Trail System Opens

Meivin S. Goldie, district Ranger for the Manistique District of the Hiawatha National Forest, announced the opening of a 25-mile marked snowmobile trail system, Kilpecker Creek Way.

The trail system starts 10 miles northeast of Manistique on the Thunder Lake road. The snowmobiler can travel on marked, unplowed trails and roads to Lyman Lake and through the Carr Pond and Highbridge Lake area. From there he can circle Jack Pine Lake and Twenty Three Lake.

The trails will also take the snowmobiler north into the Iron Jaw Lake, Nineteen Lake, and Spud Lake country, and eventually return him to his starting point.

This trail system is designed so that people do not have to follow the same route each time they use it. A person could travel over these trails many times and still visit parts of the countryside he hadn't seen before.

The U.S. Forest Service now has brochures that map out the trails and explain how to follow them. The brochures can be picked up at the Ranger Station located in Manistique's City Hall.

Scenic Value Cited Goldie explained that the real value of a brochure and trail system such as this is not to the local snowmobiler but to the visitor that is looking for new places to use his machine.

Schoolcraft County has a real opportunity to attract additional tourist dollars into the area by capitalizing on the tremendous potential it has for snowmobiling, Goldie said.

The county has the scenery and literally thousands of miles of unplowed roads and trails available for snowmobile use. Also, most of the county's woodland is in public ownership, therefore, the snowmobiler has plenty of area to run his machine without having to cross private ownership.

The Schoolcraft County trail is one of five which have been marked in the National Forest lands.

The others are: Whitefish River Way, beginning from a point off County Rd. 509 in Delta County and running a circuit between the east and west branches of the Whitefish River; Hiawatha Ways, beginning on Federal Forest Highway 13 about eight miles south of Munising; Big Sea Waters, beginning at Ironquits Mt. Ski Area in Chippewa County, and Norway Pine Way, beginning from a point on Federal Rd. 3104 about five miles northwest of St. Ignace.

Seven More Trails In addition, the Michigan Conservation Dept. has seven

Germfask Man Joins Program For President

Chief M. Sgt. John V. Lustila 111, son of Mr. and Mrs. John V. Lustila II of Germfask, was one of 14 noncommissioned officers selected to represent Phu Cat AB, Vietnam, at a military review for President Lyndon B. Johnson during the Chief Executive's recent visit to Cam Ranh Bay Air Base.

Military bases from throughout Vietnam sent representatives to participate in the review and awards ceremony. Sgt. Lustila was in charge of the Phu Cat airmen.

He said, "It was the highlight of my tour in Vietnam and an honor to have represented my unit."

Lustila is a graduate of Manistique High School. His wife, Bernice, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Losey Sr. of Germfask.

Offers Heart For $1 Million

MUSKOGON (AP) — A million dollars will buy Andrew Rando's heart.

Rando, 43, of near Hart, beset by business failure and marital problems, offered his heart for sale in a letter to The Muskogon Chronicle.

The World War II veteran, faced with the loss of a $14,000 investment in a distributing business, hospital bills from an auto accident a year ago and a recent estrangement from his wife, said "I am broken in spirit."

"My wife would be happy with a motel and a million dollars would not only provide for her adequately," Rando said, "but the sacrifice of my heart would at least benefit a less fortunate person in the world."

The name Grand Banks is given to the 500-mile stretch of shallow water off the southeast coast of Newfoundland. It is one of the finest fishing grounds in the world.

GLADSTONE

Three Men Plead Guilty To Assault, Await Sentencing

Two young men from St. Ignace and another from Gladstone pleaded guilty to assault and battery charges Thursday when arraigned before Municipal Judge James Fitzharris of Escanaba.

The men were released on bond pending sentencing set for Jan. 29.

Pleading guilty were Robert F. Gallagher, 17, of 912 Michigan Ave., Gladstone; Danny J. Bagbee, 22, and John D. Bagbee, 19, of St. Ignace.

State Police said the three young men were arrested early Thursday morning after a complaint by a 17-year-old Escanaba girl.

Leroy Rappette Advanced By Dana

The Power Take-Off Division of Dana Corp in Chelsea, Mich., announces Leroy Rappette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rappette, Rte. 1, Gladstone, has been appointed plant layout engineer for the division in Dana Corp. to hold this position.

Rappette is the youngest man in Dana Corp. He is married to the former Susan Elegeert of Escanaba. The couple has two sons.

Briefly Told

The adult skating party will be held at the Gladstone Yacht Basin at 8 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 20.

The Gladstone Senior Citizens Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the clubrooms at the City Hall. Hostesses are Mrs. Peter Cannon and Mrs. Alphonse Dementor.

The Couples Club of the Gladstone Covenant Church will hold a bowling party at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Holiday Bowl. The Carl Nyberg will entertain the group at their home, 816 Montana Ave. following bowling.

A breaking and entering of a garage at Stonington is under investigation by State Police. Mrs. Richard Olson, Rte. 2, Rapid River, said an auto jack, a transistor radio and articles from a home freezer were taken. Entry to the garage was made by forcing a side door, troopers said.

Earl the Pearl has his problems, but they're nothing compared to those of the Baltimore Bullets.
Earl Monroe spent most of Thursday denying reports that he would refuse to go into the Army if drafted, then got 26 points against St. Louis in a National Basketball Association game at Greensboro, N.C., but the Hawks won 119-116.
Monroe was originally quoted in a Baltimore newspaper about his upcoming draft physical, but later denied he would refuse to serve if drafted.
The Bullets are deep in the Eastern Division cellar with 16 victories and 30 defeats.
The Hawks won on a late basket and two free throws by Len Wilkens after a basket by Don Ohi had tied the score. Zelmo Beatty led St. Louis with 35 points, while Ohi had 32 for the Bullets.
In the only other NBA game, Cincinnati beat San Diego 129-126.
In the American Basketball Association, Dallas beat Kentucky 94-89, Denver crushed New Orleans 126-97 and Minnesota whipped Oakland 123-117.
Oscar Robertson's 36 points led the Royals to victory after the Rockets had closed to within two points with 3:25 left. Don Kojis was high for San Diego with 34 points.

Wildcats Meet Spartan Cagers

CHICAGO (AP) — Northwestern, leading the Big Ten basketball title chase with a 3-0 record, is proving statistics don't always tell the story.
The Wildcats, who are at Michigan State 1-2 for a Saturday afternoon television attraction, are third in the conference in offensive average with 79.7 points per game, fourth on defense with an average yield of 73.0, eighth in field goal average with .385, and second in an free throw average with .786.
However, Northwestern is tops in average rebounds with 50.3, with Ohio State second with 49.5.
Ohio State (1-1) is host to Michigan (0-2) and Minnesota (0-3) is at Iowa (1-1) in night games Saturday to complete the league's weekend schedule.
Departmental leaders in statistics released Friday include:
Offensive average — Ohio State, 90.0; defensive average— Illinois, 59.0; field goal average— Iowa, .796.
Joe Franklin of Wisconsin heads the scoring race with a 32-point average. He is closely pursued by Sam Williams, Iowa, 31.0; Rick Mount, Purdue, 30.7, and Bill Hosket, Ohio State 30.5. Other hot shooters include Dale Kelley, Northwestern, 22.3; Dave Scholz, Illinois, 22.0; Jim Pitts, Michigan, 21.0, and Dennis Stewart, Michigan, and teammate Rudy Tomjanovich, each 20.0.
Franklin is No. 1 in field goal accuracy with a .667 percentage while Hosket tops rebounders with a 16.0 average.

HOUGHTON (AP)—The site of the central district championships of the U. S. Ski Association's Junior Alpine division has been changed to Michigan Tech's Mont Ripley Ski Hill at Houghton-Hancock. Meet chairman Bill Albrecht said the change was made because of poor conditions at the meet's original site at Marquette's Cliff Ridge Ski Hill. The two day meet will be Jan. 20-21.
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Iron-willed Vince Lombardi, who guided the Green Bay Packers to a third straight National Football League title in a season strewn with injuries, has been named Wisconsin Sports Personality of 1967.
The Green Bay coach and general manager won the Associated Press honor as decisively as his Packers won the Super Bowl. The score was 34-4 in the balloting by Wisconsin editors and radio and television station news directors.
RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — The pole position in Sunday's sixth annual Motor Trend 500 at Riverside International Raceway went to speedster Dan Gurney in a record qualifying run Thursday.
Gurney zipped over the 2.7-mile road course at 110.97 miles an hour, smashing the mark set last year by Dick Hutchinson of 106.7 miles an hour. The 1967 winner, Parnelli Jones, qualified earlier, also breaking Hutchinson's mark with 109.74 m.p.h. Jones and Gurney each drove Ford Torinos.

Oakland Trades Scoring Leader

By The Associated Press
It's nothing like what's going on in the Eastern Division, but things are tightening up a little in the American Basketball Association's Western Division these days.
Denver beat New Orleans 126-97 Thursday night and moved to within three games of the front-running Bucs. Minnesota and Pittsburgh, tied for the lead in the East, were idle Thursday.
In other league games, Dallas topped Kentucky 94-89 and Minnesota turned back Oakland 123-117.
Denver got 33 points from Larry Jones and 31 from Willie Murrell in a fine team effort. Doug Moe had 29 for New Orleans.
Dallas outlasted a late Kentucky rally after the Colonels fought back from a lead to an 81-81 tie. Cincy Powell scored 36 points for the Chaparrals while Louie Dampier had 28 for Kentucky.
Minnesota handed Oakland its sixth straight setback and immediately after the game on the West Coast the Oaks traded Levern Tart, the league's leading scorer, to the New Jersey Americans.
Oakland obtained guard Barry Leibowitz, a high 1968 draft choice and an undisclosed amount of money.
Ironically, Tart was the game's high scorer in his final appearance in an Oaks' uniform, collecting 34 points. Mel Daniels led the Muskies with 25.
Minnesota Coach Jim Pollard was ejected for arguing over an official's call, and three Muskies' players fouled out. A basket by reserve Errol Palmer put the Minnesota in front for good 109-107.
